

Star Wars Recipe Ideas Sheet

May the Force be with you when you feed all of those hungry Jedis in training. This will certainly help with your party food mission.

Menu

Queen Amidala's Fruit Punch
Alien Face Pizzas
Fruit Light Sabers
Alien Ooze
Jedi Knight Energy Pops
Yoda's Special Ice Cream Sundaes

Queen Amidala's Favorite Fruit Punch

You will need: Strawberries ; Raspberries ;Lime juice concentrate; Bottle of ginger beer; Bottle of soda water(chilled); and small tub of vanilla ice cream. Puree fruit in a blender and combine with the lime juice concentrate. Chill for at least one hour. Pour mixture into a punch bowl, add ginger beer, soda water and scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Alien Face Pizzas

You will need half an English muffin for each child. Split muffins in half; top with pizza sauce and grated cheese. Give each guest a muffin half and let them design their own space creature using pepperoni, sliced olives, sliced mushrooms, pieces of green pepper or onion, etc. Bake on a cookie sheet at 375 degrees for 5-10 minutes, or until cheese melts.

Fruit Light Sabers

For this healthy snack, you'll need kabob skewers and a selection of your child's favorite fruits. Spear melon balls, slices of banana, berries, apple chunks, pineapple, etc., on the skewers. For fun, stick all the "light sabers" in the rind of an upside-down melon half. The visual effect is best if all the fruits are arranged in the same order. After the children have pulled their own light sabers from the melon half, help them remove the fruit from if the skewers if they are sharp.

Alien Ooze

Here's a party favorite that's sure to please all your space creatures. Before the party, add a few drops of green food coloring to a bottle of lemon-lime softdrink. At the party, fill clear glasses half-full with the green softdrink while the kids watch. Then add one scoop of chocolate chip mint ice cream and carefully add more soda. The kids will love watching the ice cream float to the top and settle amid all that tasty green ooze. Serve with long handled spoons for fun.

Parties Kids Remember

Jedi Knight Energy Pops

After a day of traveling the galaxy, your little jedi knights will need to replenish their energy! To prepare, melt 1/4 cup margarine and one small package of miniature marshmallows over medium heat in a saucepan or microwaveable container. Stir constantly, so the mixture does not burn. Slowly add 6 cups rice bubbles, and mix until cereal is evenly coated. Remove the pan from heat. And add 1 cup of your child's favorite treat, such as small chocolate candies, butterscotch chips, peanuts, or raisins. Spoon mixture into small paper cups (wax-lined cups prevent pops from sticking) and press lightly to fill. Insert a popsicle stick into each cup and press mixture again. Cool and refrigerate until party time. Makes 12 energy pops.

Yoda's Special Ice Cream Sundaes

Bake your favorite brownie recipe, or follow the directions on a package of brownie mix. When brownies are cool, cut them into squares and place one in the bottom of each child's bowl. Add scoops of vanilla ice cream, whipped cream, and top with a cherry!

Mustafar Planet Volcano Cake

Starfighter Jet Cake